Creating A Simple GUI Using JOptionPane Class

Use the `JOptionPane` class to create a simple GUI application that uses three input dialogs and one message dialog. The input dialogs are used to obtain the first name, family name, and telephone number from the user, in that order respectively. The message dialog is then used to display the following messages in two separate lines (rows):

"Name:" <first name> <family name>

"Telephone number: " <telephone number>

The title of the message dialog must be "User Information". The message dialog must be of the type Information Message.
